

Entry Level HVAC Technician for San Francisco HVAC company

JOB SUMMARY:

Entry Level HVAC/R technician needed for growing HVAC refrigeration company in San Francisco, CA.. Prefer individuals with HVAC/R experience or who like to work with their hands. The position is full-time and offers many great benefits, hands on training and education and room for growth within the organization.

JOB REQUIREMENTS:

- The HVAC/R Technician will provide maintenance, diagnose and repair various commercial and industrial heating and cooling systems.
- HVAC/R technician will replace any heating, air conditioning, or refrigeration equipment or complete systems.
- Lay out and connect electrical wiring between the controls and equipment according to the wiring diagram, using an electrician's hand tools.
- Obtain and maintain required certifications as they pertain to HVAC/R technician duties.
- HVAC/R Technician will be required to inspect and test systems to verify compliance with plans and specifications and to detect and locate malfunctions.
- Maintain cleaning coils and leak checking.
- Testing HVAC/R systems and components.
- Other duties may be assigned as needed.

JOB QUALIFICATIONS:

- Valid California driver's license and Clean driving record.
- Knowledge and understanding of HVAC/R service and installation techniques preferred but not required.
- Must be able to pass a drug screening.
- High School degree or equivalent.
- Must speak fluent English

JOB BENEFITS:

- Year round work stability
- Company vehicle/uniforms
- PTO (paid time off)/holidays
- Competitive pay- negotiable based on experience
- Hands on training
- Group health insurance for employee and family
- Overtime pay if applicable
- Work with the latest technology in the HVAC/R industry